* We reprint Lucas's Cork Directory, now extremely rare, by courtesy of Dr. Richard Hayes, M.R.I.A., formerly Director of the National Library of Ireland, from a book of directories presented to the Irish Genealogical Research Society. We follow the original closely, reproducing peculiarities of spelling and punctuation, but not the old-fashioned lettering of s. We are indebted to Miss Rosemary folliott, F.I.G.R.S., for submitting the material.

The Directory is dedicated to the Right Honourable Earl of Shannon and, in the original, contains sections on Passage, Cove, Kinsale, Bandon, Innishannon and Youghal. These will appear in due course in The Irish Genealogist.

* And at Glasheen, a neat Village on the Bandon-road, within a mile of the City, where a Cotton-manufactory, the first in this Province, hath been established in a very extensive manner, by the persevering and indefatigable Zeal of Henry and James Sadleir, an undertaking which considering its Magnitude, in the various Processes of Carding, Spinning, Weaving, Dying, Drying Bleaching, Finishing &c. is brought to a Perfection, which precludes the Import of the like Goods from any Part of the World. The Bleach Ground in particular or Water Mills, and every other Essential to that Branch of Business, is, perhaps amongst the first in this Kingdom.
